A 22mile/35km route for horse riders following bridleways, minor roads and permissive access through the countryside of central Cheshire

For more information about where to ride in Cheshire, visit www.discovercheshire.com

The Delamere Loop

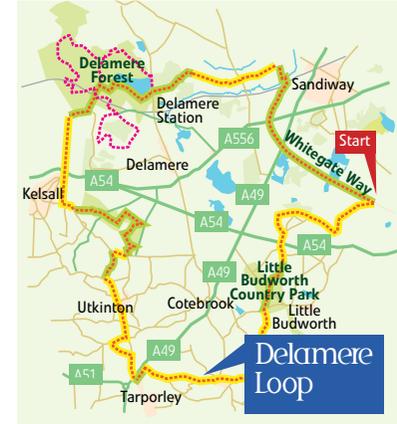

The loop runs from partway along the Whitegate Way round in a circle, taking in Delamere Forest, Primrosehill Wood, and Little Budworth Country Park. The route is largely on flat ground with gentle hills in its western area.

The route comprises some 12 miles/19km of surfaced roads (mostly without verges), the southern and western areas of the route comprising most of the road work. The rest of the route is 'off-road', along public rights of way and routes which are permissive. You should expect to share these routes with walkers and cyclists and in the case of roads and some permissive tracks, with motor traffic. Agricultural vehicles also use some of the off-road sections. Some of the off-road sections of the route can be wet during winter months.

At over 22 miles long, the whole loop would be a challenge to complete in one day. Why not consider staying at one of the B&B accommodation providers for horse and rider (listed on the back page), or having a tailor-made itinerary created by Equestrian Escapes?

The route can be followed by foot too. Walkers can avoid longer road sections by making the most of the footpath network in the area – refer to OS Map Explorer 267. Cyclists are advised that the surfaces of many sections of the route can make for difficult progress.

The Delamere Loop can be joined at any point; the directions given here start from the station car park of the Whitegate Way, just off Clay Lane in Marton, and go around the Loop in an anti-clockwise direction.

Look out for the distinctive blue and white fingerposts and waymark discs.

Safety

Whilst most of the route follows quiet lanes and off-road trails it is occasionally necessary to cross busy roads. All such crossings on the Delamere Loop are shown on the maps by a warning triangle. Please take great care when crossing. The A54 and B5152 both carry fast traffic. We recommend that you use OS Map Explorer 267 to help you follow the route.

This leaflet was produced by Visit Chester and Cheshire with Cheshire West & Chester Council. The Delamere Loop was devised by the Mid Cheshire Bridleways Association. We would like to thank the many landowners, including the Forestry Commission, who have granted permission for the Delamere Loop to cross their land, without whom the route would not be possible.

Route directions

Section 1

Whitegate Way to Delamere Forest

1. Begin at the far end of the station car park for the Whitegate Way, off Clay Lane, Marton. Horse boxes should park at the far end near the toilet block. Turn left onto the Whitegate Way and continue along it until its northern termination at the railway bridge in Cuddington.
2. Go under the bridge and ride straight ahead, passing through the gate and across the bridge over the stream, through the trees up a slight incline. Then follow the public bridleway around the edge of the field until it emerges onto Cuddington Lane.
3. Turn left onto Cuddington Lane and continue, crossing the road junction onto Gallowsclough Lane (cross Stoneyford Lane/Cheese Hill Lane with care).
4. Continue along Gallowsclough Lane and when you reach a sharp right bend, go straight on along the track in front of you (cyclists must dismount here). This track bends to the left about halfway along and there are two horse stiles to negotiate. The track will bring you into Delamere Forest.

Points of interest

THE WHITEGATE WAY is a disused railway line, originally opened in 1870 to transport salt to the Manchester-Chester line. Today it is a haven for wildlife and people.

BLAKEMERE SHOPPING EXPERIENCE (just off the A556) combines numerous shops set in an Edwardian stable block with a garden centre and aviary for birds of prey.

Section 2

Delamere Forest

5. Once you've entered Delamere Forest, you are free to explore the tracks as you wish, but if you want to follow the recommended route for horse riders this is waymarked and goes straight on towards the Whitefield car park.
6. Cross the car park and the road junction with care. Once across, you can turn either left or right around Blakemere Moss, following the specially waymarked trails for horse riders. If you prefer to take a more direct route, turn left around Blakemere Moss and continue along the track keeping the water to your right.
7. When you reach the junction of paths at the end of the Moss, turn left and then right.
8. Turn left again and continue over the railway bridge.
9. About 75m after crossing the railway, when you reach a junction of 4 paths, take the path ahead across a small stream. Once across, ignore the footpath to the right. The path ascends an incline with trees either side.
10. Turn right onto the track out of the trees and continue out of the forest to Grey's Gate.

Points of interest

DELAMERE FOREST is a remnant of an extensive royal hunting forest that covered the area in medieval times.

BLAKEMERE MOSS was once drained by Napoleonic prisoners of war and trees were planted. Today the wetland has been restored and it is an excellent habitat for a huge variety of wildlife, popular with bird watchers.

14. Turn right past the farm and take the first public bridgeway on the left signposted 'John Street'.
15. At the end of the bridgeway, turn left along John Street towards the village of Utkinton.
16. Go straight on at the cross roads with Smithy Lane/Wood Lane.
17. At the junction with Fishers Green, turn right, then left and then right again, back onto Utkinton Road.

Points of interest

'URCHIN'S KITCHEN' in Primrosehill Wood is a beautiful, fern-lined, miniature gorge, carved out during the last Ice Age.

THE VILLAGE OF UTKINTON became famous in the 17th Century for its pure, curative spring, known as the 'WHISTLEBITCH WELL'. It's remains lie hidden in Primrosehill Wood.

Points of interest

The pretty village of EATON is home to the remains of the only known Roman Villa in the north west of England.

ABBOTS MOSS is part of a complex of basin mires surrounded by associated wet and dry heathland. The mires support several species of moss as well as cotton grass and cranberry.
